

NTUSU MINISTERIAL OPEN DISCUSSIONS AND EVENTS

WHAT DO WE DO?

The Ministerial Open Discussions and Events Committee (MODE) strives to bridge the gap between the student population and political office holders. In providing opportunities for youths to contribute their thoughts and suggestions to the political and civil society, MODE hopes that NTU students can play a part and discuss Singapore's political scene.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QNS

What will I gain from the experience?

You will get to see your committee's projects come to fruition! Especially if you are keen on learning the ropes of event and project management, the MODE committee gives you the opportunity to be part of every aspect of event planning - from ideation, planning, execution to post-event evaluation. More importantly, you will find many opportunities to get involved in meaningful political discussions with stakeholders of all levels such as committee members, ministries and even political leaders!

Do I have to be informed about political issues and current affairs to join?

While there is no requirements to join as a committee member, it will be ideal if you have some level of interest in politics and current affairs!
